

Laura Lange

Laura is a pediatric Occupational Therapist at Curative New Berlin Therapies with over 30 years of experience working with children from infancy through the teen years. She has experience working with children with complex medical issues, cerebral palsy or other neurological disorders, spinal muscular atrophy (SMA), down syndrome, sensory processing disorders, and brachial plexus injury. Laura has had extensive Neuro-Developmental Treatment (NDT) training, completed additional continuing education in the areas sensory processing disorders, therapeutic listening, SOS feeding approach, handwriting without tears and has also been a presenter on subject of brachial plexus injury. Laura's treatment philosophy includes having fun while working hard, building upon success and confidence, to assist children in meeting their goals.

Mary Gutzke

Mary is a pediatric Occupational Therapist at Curative New Berlin Therapies with 29 years of pediatric experience. She spent over half of that time working at Texas Children's Hospital, the largest children's hospital in the world. Mary ran the wheelchair and equipment clinic and the outpatient feeding program at TCH. She specializes in working with children with complex medical needs and diagnoses. She has had extensive training in feeding, vision, behavioral management, and equipment fabrication and modification. Mary has presented multiple community seminars on "The Picky Eater". Her unique approach to therapy focuses on incorporating treatment seamlessly into daily life, building functional skills as a part of the daily routine. Mary believes that skill acquisition promotes competence and that behaviors improve when a person has activities that they can claim as proficient skills.
