

ABOUT CHRISTINA DEMAIO

Christina DeMaio is a Seacoast-based Teaching Artist, maintaining a private studio of singers from New Hampshire to NYC. Christina received her B.M. in Vocal Performance (Classical) from New England Conservatory of Music. With over fifteen years of vocal training, Christina has performed and recorded a diverse array of musical styles from Classical to Country!

Christina works with singers of all ages, skill levels, and musical interests. She teaches at several local Youth Theatre companies as a Music Director and Vocal Coach, including the Pine Street Players at Christ Church (Exeter) and St. John's Episcopal Church (Portsmouth) where she also serves as their Alto Choral Scholar.

Christina is proud to be the Director of Programs at Young Singers Academy, an International voice training program based in NYC. Under the ongoing mentorship of founder Vielka Kelly-Weiss, Christina approaches all of her teaching using The Vielka Method™, a comprehensive and accessible approach to vocal technique, music literacy, and song study designed specifically for young singers, applicable to all ages.

Christina is also a member of NATS (National Association of Teachers of Singing) and completed their NATS-NYC Mentor Teacher Program in 2020, observing and learning from master teachers in Musical Theatre voice.

Christina is very passionate about Choral Music and is thrilled to be returning to BPC (one of her favorite places to sing!) www.christinamdemaio.com
